Abstract

Summarise the purpose, approach, principal findings or argument, and conclusion. Do not exceed 300 words unless the organisers specify a lower limit.

Keywords Provide 3–6 keywords.

1. Introduction

Present the problem, context and aim or research question.

2. Materials and methods

Describe the design, materials and analytical methods. For legal or theoretical articles, use a heading that reflects the sources and approach.

3. Results

Present the findings. For a legal or conceptual article, use thematic headings for the analysis.

4. Discussion

Interpret the findings or argument, explain their implications and note relevant limitations. Combine with the previous section when appropriate.

5. Conclusions

State the main conclusions in relation to the aims or research question.

Declarations

Report applicable funding, acknowledgements, conflicts of interest and, where relevant, ethics approval and consent. Include a no-conflict statement only if accurate.
